APOSTLE SMITH AFTER MINISTERS

Says They Are All Dishonest and Accept of Tainted Money.

EXPRESSED HIS VIEWS AT TABERNACLE SUNDAY

Avers Gamblers, Saloonkeepers and Others Hold Full Church Membership.

At the services in the Tabernacle Sunday afternoon Apostle Hyrum M Smith took occasion to pay his respects to the ministers of the city who had dared to rebuke gambling and other evils carried m in this city in open violation of the law, and in the course of his tirade he openly charged the ministry of Sait Lake with dishonesty. The apostolic onslaught was entirely unexpected. The occasion was the quarterly conference of the Salt Lake stake and a large congre-

Prenched Against Carelessness.

Apostic Rudger Clawson was the first ceaker. His talk was principally on the time of repentance. He stated that the aints sometimes grew careless and its included even those who have relived the priesthood and been the recipients of many blessings from the Lord. Gambling and Gamblers.

Apostle Smith said that the preaching of the ministers of most of the Christian sects had little effect upon the correction of evil and the church that would eventually prevail was that which first cleansed itself. 'Ministers preach against salounkeepers,' he said, 'while at the same time the salounkeepers,' he said, 'while at the same time the salounkeeper is in full fellowship in his church and liberally contributes to the funds. Those in his church own gambling halls. Others is his church own gambling halls. Others is his church ore connected with gambling—in houses where it is carried on or in gambling in some of its phases within or without such places.

Prostitution and Divorce.

Prostitution and Divorce.

'How long do you think the horrible crame of prostitution would cease because ministers preach against it, while the owner of the row or the house or a number of houses rented for this illegitimate purpose stands in the church as a respected member?' asked the apostle. 'What god to preach against divorce?' This is one of the things that has perhaps corrupted as much as any other thing the morals of the people, but why preach against it while those who are divorced occupy prominent places in the church and mingle in the best of church society.'

Those Responsible for Condition.

Those Responsible for Condition.

The preaching of the world today is colly impotent so far as it arrests these wholly impotent so far as it arrests these evils, and in my opinion they might as evils, and in my opinion they might as well keep still and not preach at all about them so long as they continue to recognize those responsible for them in full fellowellip and good standing in the church and mingle in good society with these characters who are responsible for the condition. Why condemn the drunkard and decry the condition of his family and the wrecking of his home? He is not alone responsible for it. It is some good church member who owns or conducts a brewery, who has a distillery in this terrible traffic, the wholesaler and retailer of it to him who is weak and unable perhaps from inheritance or his own weaknesses to resist the temptation it at is offered to him by the respectable church member that is to blame.

Ministers Must Get Braye.

Ministers Must Get Brave.

When these ministers and church societies who are the ostensible correctors of evils, preachers of righteousness, get brave enough to say to those good memhers in full fellowship. My friend, you must either go out of the saloon business or go out of this church, there is no room in the church for you, because so long as you are in the church and holding a standing in it you are counteracting and destroying all my efforts in preaching against drunkeness; when he says to the gambler you must either cease gambling or we shall excommunicate you from the church; and he shall say to the man who runs his building for prostitution, you shall dispense with this business or we shall put you where you belong, out of the church; when the minister who united in marriage men and women or man and woman will say to them that without church; when the minister who united in marriage men and women or man and women will say to them that without just reason-merely because of a whim of their own they have grown tired of cash other and desire the knot united-that they are no longer in good fellowship in the church. I say to you when ministers get brave enough to occupy that position then you will find a great change in the world and one that will be for the better.

What Saints Would Say.

What Saints Would Say.

There is one church in the world brave enough to say this, and that is the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. That church will not hold in good standing or fellowship the saloonkeeper, the gambler, a libertine or a drunkard who will not repeat. It makes no difference whether they are worth millions and dress in finery and who contribute to the church. It makes no difference, we stand for purity, righteousness and the Kingdom of God and we propose that all who hold a recognized standing in the church shall stand for these things.

Abominable Doctrines.

Abominable Doctrines.

Abominable Doctrines.

The mixture of error with truth in the churches all over Christendom is responsible for the condition of the world today. The ministers of these churches have an easy way of making a livelihood. In this church they work for their own living and are not depending upon any man or set of men for their livelihood. The modern doctrine is a doctrine of devils and is much responsible for sin in the world. The refusal of a priest to give a child the sacrament and who will yet enter the cell of a condemned murderer and administer to him these sacred emblems, the holy communion, such abominations, such doctrines as these won't regenerate the world, they won't persunde men not to commit murder or save mankind. As long as they are practiced among men, you need not look to see men or the world become any better.

Minister Accepts Tainted Money.

Minister Accepts Tainted Money.

Minister Accepts Tainted Money.

"I pity the minister of the gospel who is so situated that he must shape his sermons that they shall hit one over the heads of another who is equally guilty. I pity the preacher who must condemn drunkenness while he speaks to the brewer and the distiller. Being cognizant of the position, he accepts their money. It is certainly tainted money, and he is a dishonest man himself. That's all. No man is an honest man who will harbor in his church such men as these, while the man in rage and who has been degraded is shut out from society because of his condition."

The only article of value secured from Jakley was a valuable watch. It was in a nickel case, but the works alone cost $46. When their victim falled to move as quickly as they thought he should, one of them struck Cakley over the head with a weapon, probably the but of a revelyer, and felled him to the ground. This done they took the watch and skipped.

Late in Reporting Hold-Up.

The case was not reported until nearly infanight. As it happened at 10:30 there was all the chance in the world for the men to get away. Officers were detailed on the case, however, and an effort made to locate the guilty parties. One of them was described as being nearly six feet tall, heavy set, heavy mustache and wearing a black slouch hat and long black overcont. The second man was smaller and also wore a black overcont. The hold-up occurred on Second West street near South Temple street.

OF UNITARIANISM

This Was the Subject of Rev. Frank Fay Eddy's Discourse Sunday.

'nlty quartette rendered an anthem

idy sald in part:

The subject of Rev. Frank Fuy Eddy at the Unitarian services yesterday was, "The Pres-ent-Day Position of Unitarianism". Miss Nei-lle Mahan sang a beautiful offertory solo and

Men are untiringly interested in the steptheir own progress and their relative position as related to that of other men. It is especially necessary for the Unitarian to take especially necessary for the Unitarian to take reckonings from time to time, for he frankly acknowledges that he is unanchored in faith the lighthouse keeper can estimate the alstance and direction of ships that pass with comparative case, because his habitation is stationary. But the captain about a moving ship has a problem with many elements to consider. The difficulties are increased because he himself is moving and his position in relation to other moving vessels must change form he himself is moving and his position in relition to other moving versions intust change froe moment to moment. The figures of specualities which orthodoxy pictures the church a significant. The church is a refuse, a lig guiding to the harbor, an ark of eaferty. With the Unitarian it is different. He is a marine settler.

As to Unitarians.

As to Unitarians.

Following in the line of this thought, where stands the little body of bellevers and dealers that have come together naturally and aimest in spite of themselves under the flag of Unitarianism, in relation to the matters that are changing the ounde of modern men? Now, bear in mind the person called a Unitarian is really representative of a type of man that has been persistent through all history, the man who would not betray his reason in the man who would not betray his reason in the man who would not betray his reason in the man who would not be they have been of the region, also who would not deny the fact for the sake of the fable. So Unitarianism is an attitude of soul, a temper of mind, rather than a cult.

'One of the aphricual experiences of Jesus was early fashioned into a legend, the legend of the temptation of Christ. In this the Tempter is described as hidding him relieve his hunger by turning stones into bread. But Jesus accorned such a puerile exercise of his power. I use the text taken from this foul legend to indicate the similar nature of a proposal made to humanity at the present day that they turn stones into bread to satisfy their hungering and thirsting after righteousness. #### Two Lines of Thought.

Mr. Eddy then discussed more in particular these two lines of thought. He cited evidences of what seemed to be at least a temporary re-action toward orthodox standards in the ro-ligious world, such as the basis of admission adopted by the confederation of churches, th-

What Is Demanded.

In conclusion Mr Eddy said: "We rejoice then, in the religion of the free spirit. If we have put asids as useless the old props of religion we have at the same time burst the bonds that restricted our action. We are no lenger service in the presence of the pam. We demand something more in our religion than old custom and heary antiquity. It becomes increasingly clear that out of each eramust spring its own characteristic form of faith, if it have any vital religion. At the same time, it would be folly to attempt to sever or to disregard the past in planning the future. There is a law of continuity in human history and we can have no future that is not conditioned by all the past.

"The grains and fruits that are the food of civilized countries—without which, indeed, we might almost say civilization would be impossible—are all evolved by toll and palits from useless weeds. We shall improvement will be based intelligently on their hast. So with coclety—all our customs, institutions, ideas and ideals are rooted firmly in the past. There is no way in which we can begin anion. We can only guide the course of evolution. We can only guide the course of evolution. We can prune and clip and dig: we can destroy the worse and mats the better. But in order to do this we must neither be billed to the imperfections of the past mor attempt to ignore turn into logves."
